Participants' Feedback

The "New Tashkent" Directorate

At the ICCI conference, deep scientific and practical discussions about advanced technologies and world trends in the construction industry are being held. The Directorate highly appreciates ICCI as an authoritative professional platform that unites the state, business and the expert community.

Azizbek Omonov
Head of Department

Çeliker Holding

At a conference of this scale, where so many representatives of the industry gather, it is necessary to talk about construction and the future of the industry. We see great importance in this. Such major industry events bring together professionals to discuss the future construction and development of the entire industry

Emrah Çeliker
Chairman of the Board of Directors

TBC Bank Uzbekistan

I see that ICCI is gaining importance not only in Uzbekistan, but also is becoming popular worldwide. Today, our Georgian colleagues and I discussed ways to enter the construction market in Uzbekistan, which is growing rapidly and has great potential. ICCI is a very good platform to study the market.

Spartak Tetrashvili
Chairman of the Board

Participants' Feedback

Active & Well-Being City

Today, Uzbekistan is a driver of sustainable development and the construction industry of Central Asia. ICCI unites international experts and actually sets industry trends, becoming a bridge between business, the expert community and the state. The participation of foreign specialists confirms that the platform is really strong and strategically important for the market.

Alfiya Kalmaganbetova

International expert on urban spaces, sports and recreational infrastructure

Architectural Bureau SAFRONOVA PROJECT

It is very important for us to share experience with colleagues, suppliers and developers, to improve projects and bring them to a new level. The joint format of the conference and exhibition creates a unique opportunity to exchange knowledge and professional contacts. We thank the organizers for creating such a platform.

Lyubov Safronova

Expert in architectural design and fee-development

Kawakin Core-Tech Co., Ltd.

I am a seismic engineer and I work on the introduction of innovative technologies and new standards to increase the resilience of buildings and infrastructure to earthquakes in Uzbekistan. At the ICCI conference, I was impressed by the scale of the discussion of innovations, digitalization and modern approaches to architecture and urban development, which form new models of urban environment organization. I consider such international meetings extremely important because they unite key industry participants, create new business opportunities and contribute to the economic development of the country.
